January 2022

Happy New Year:

Wishing everyone a happy and prosperous New Year and looking forward to a New Year that I hope we all get through safely. With most of us vaccinated and boosted, and our children and grandchildren ages 5 to 12 years old fully vaccinated we will still all have to be on our best behavior and to continue to practice social distancing and the wearing of face masks for the foreseeable future.

Each of your region's board of directors should be working on a calendar of events for the year and have probably done so with the assumption that the pandemic would have been behind us. This has proven not to be the case and there could be some shuffling of region activities. For those events that are generally held outdoors like DE's, autocross, tours and rallies, these events are more than likely to go as planned. However, indoor event like club dinners, tech sessions, rally or autocross schools may be subject to cancellations or rescheduling. Let's hope that these events can happen as planned.

Region Leadership Changes:

All regions in Zone 7 have probably completed their annual board of director elections and based up what I know, we will be welcoming 2 new club presidents to Zone 7. For Yosemite Region, David Boyd will be taking over the leadership of the region while Ed Suarez will be leading Sequoia Region. Thank you both for stepping up to lead your regions!

Continuing to serve for the 2022 year will be Ed Hunter, Golden Gate Region, Terry Topolski, Shasta Region. Peter Ridgway, Loma Prieta Region, Brian Adkins, Diablo Region, Natasha Zelig, Monterey Bay Region, Rik Larson, Sacramento Valley Region, Millie Smith, Sierra Nevada Region, and Ben Davoren, Redwood Region

The Zone 7 annual Presidents meeting will be held on March 5, 2022 in Roseville. At this event all the region presidents will have a chance to hear the latest updates from one of PCA National's Executive Council members as well as several PCA National chairs. In addition, we will review updates to the national Region Procedures Manual as well as hear updates on PCA National events and the Zone 7 concours and autocross programs.

Zone 7 Leadership Updates:

I would like to announce the appointment of Brant Ballantyne as the new Zone 7 autocross chair for 2022. Brant will be following in the footsteps of Grady Carter who after serving for the last 3 years has decided to step down. I thank Grady for his years of dedicated service to the Zone autocross series and for building the program over the last several years.

Brant has been autocrossing with a variety of clubs since 2009, including the Boston and Northern New Jersey Chapters of BMWCCA and Renegade Miata Club driving his father-in-law's 2002 Miata and his 2004 BMW 330i ZHP. In 2014, his family relocated to Orinda, CA where he joined PCA Golden Gate Region. as an owner of a 2010 Cayenne. After joining the Golden Gate Region, Ed purchased 2001 base Boxster which he has been competing in for the last 6 or 7 years. Brant is a GGR autocross instructor and an Autocross Rules Committee member. He has owned and autocrossed several Porsches including his 986 Boxster, 981 Cayman S, and 996 Carrera; all while becoming good friends with lots of competitors along the way.

Brant is currently working with the Zone 7 Region autocross chairs on coming up with the dates for the 2022 AX Series and hopes to be able to publish the schedule in the coming months. Also, if you have any comments or suggestions for the 2022 rules update, you can email Brant at: flat6axr@gmail.com

Continuing to serve Zone 7 as volunteers are the following:

Howard Thomas	Treasurer
Rik Larson	Secretary
David Bunch	Social Media
Roy Schauben	Concours Co-Chair
Simone Kopitzki	Concours Co-chair
Richard Chew	Webmaster

Brant Ballantyne

Brant and his wife, Lisa, are both from Massachusetts and met in college at Tulane University. Brant completed his Master of Engineering at Massachusetts Institute of Technology and has a MBA from Boston University. Brant was a professional structural engineer and a partner in an engineering consulting firm until he decided to become a stay-at-home-dad when his boys were younger. His wife's job gave the family the opportunity to relocate to the Bay Area. Besides autocrossing, Brant enjoys snowboarding, golfing, travel, and being a super fan at remote and local venues on the West Coast in support of his two sons' competitive soccer careers.

Brant's primary duties as the Zone 7 Autocross chair will be to head-up the review of the autocross competition rules as well as to be the primary contact point for region autocross chairs regarding safety, compiling results for year end awards, and will be attending most if not all of the Zone 7 events for the season.

Welcome on board, Brant, and thank you again for stepping up!

PCA West Coast Race Series Announces Schedule for 2022:

The West Coast Series is a PCA club racing points competition comprised of the all the PCA club races that occur on the west coast of the USA. # Winter is Here: Drive Safe, Drive Smart

Article by Michael “Mikie” Alexander (Diablo PCA Board Member)

Editor’s Note: Mikie always provides the voice of reason and this article (which he originally wrote in 2019) will now be a regular “winter” feature in the Devil’s Advocate (especially for those of us who need the reminder).

Thanksgiving turkey dinner is but a distant memory and the Holiday Season is now in full swing. For some strange reason I don’t really recall fall as the weather seems to have simply gone from the warmth of summer directly to the chill of winter. That means that the weather has turned windy, cold, and wet.

It’s time to shift mental gears and think about winter driving; both in terms of car preparation and your seasonal driving skills.

Your Vehicle:

From a mechanical perspective, whether you drive your Porsche or other “Brand X” vehicle during this time of year, make sure your car is ready for the road. That means checking all safety systems and performing any necessary maintenance.

General maintenance: Make sure that your vehicle is in good running order (e.g. belts, battery etc.) as breakdowns, especially on cold dark rainy nights, are a real bummer.

Tires: Think about it. Your car rides on a cushion of air contained in your tires. For each tire, that cushion called a contact patch is smaller than the size of your hand and is the only thing connecting your car to the pavement! That relatively tiny contact patch allows your car to accelerate, stop & turn; in other words, CONTROL. Check your tire treads for wear.

Slicks are great for summer track days but, on public roads, proper tread depth is imperative to moving rainwater away from the contact patch and maintaining control of your car. Aquaplaning at speed can be a humbling experience.

Many of our cars that are not daily drivers sport relatively few miles on their tires over the years. One thing many owners neglect to factor in, however, is the age of their tires. Rubber compounds are a miracle of modern chemistry but degrade over time even when not used on the road. Be wary of tires whose manufacture date is more than six years old. This is especially true for performance cars that are capable of generating high tire loads. You can check for a tire’s manufacture date on the tire sidewall.

Tire pressure is essential to maintaining control during winter driving, so check your tires and maintain the factory recommended pressures. Remember that on certain Porsches the tire pressures are staggered. If your car is equipped with TPM that's a great start but, nothing is better than actually checking pressures with a proper gage.

Although we live in the Bay Area with relatively mild weather conditions, many of us enjoy winter sports by taking trips into the mountains. Mountain driving in freezing temperatures on icy or snow-covered pavement requires special consideration. If you are a regular Sierra traveler, consider winter tires and at the very least carry proper snow chains when traveling in the mountains. Winter tires are specifically designed, and rubber compounds are formulated to perform under cold winter conditions. You can purchase Porsche-specific winter tire packages (tires and rims) directly from authorized Porsche dealers or generic packages from your usual tire purveyor.

Brakes: To quote an old football adage, offense sells tickets but defense wins championships. In car speak, zero to sixty times set automotive journalists' tongues atwitter but, sixty to zero times are what really matters to drivers. Proper tire condition is of course integral to stopping distance but, proper braking power will keep you safe. Has your brake system been checked recently for winter operation? That means not only pads and rotors for wear but also brake fluid for contamination.

Windshield: As Curly the Stooze says, "I can't see, I can't see!", Mo, "What's the matter?" Curly "I got my eyes closed!" Nyuk, nyuk, nyuk.. Nothing can be worse than driving at night in the rain with the glare of oncoming traffic and not being able to see clearly. Perform some windshield maintenance; it's quick and easy. Clean, polish (optional) and treat your windshield.

First things first, replace those old windshield wipers with a fresh set before your next outing. After replacing those old worn wipers, treat your glass with a polymer rain repellent like Rain-X or other similar products. These liquid repellents enable the wiper blade to glide smoothly against the glass thus reducing the overall friction whenever the need arises. There are several products on the market for specific use conditions and you won't believe the difference as water will simply bead up and literally fly off your windshield at speed.

Human Factors:

Check the weather forecast on your planned route and at your destination before you leave home. If a huge storm is predicted, weigh the risk of traveling and act accordingly. You may decide to leave early, delay or even cancel your trip.

Make sure that you are fully gassed up or charged up as the case may be and that you carry emergency supplies in the frunk or the trunk.

For contemporary vehicles, give the onboard cameras and electronic sensors a quick cleaning so that they are operating as designed.

You may drive a high performance Porsche but, testing the performance envelope in winter conditions can be a recipe for disaster. Slow down, take a deep cleansing breath and take advantage of that premium Burmester or Bose audio system that you paid so dearly for.

Adjust your driving style to emulate former Formula One star Jenson Button who was known for being so smooth. Take it easy by anticipating what's happening ahead. Avoid drag race acceleration and practice gradual deceleration. If you hit an icy patch & lose traction, remember those ice driving skills. Don't panic, remain calm and steer straight; or opposite lock as required and don't slam on the brakes.

If money is no object and you fancy yourself as a famous Finnish rally driver the likes of; Toivonen, Alén, Vatanen, the brothers Mäkinen, Kankkunen, Grönholm and Latvala release your inner flying Finn and embrace winter performance driving. Don't do it on public roads though. Porsche offers their Ice Driving Experience with three skill levels over four or five days in both the pine forests of Lapland Finland and closer to home in Mécaglisse, Québec.

Enjoy all that California winter has to offer but, when the weather turns nasty be safe out there. And see you at an upcoming Diablo club event.

BLAST FROM THE PAST

Cover story article from January 1993:

Porsche Celebrates 20th Anniversary of 911 RS Model with 911 RS America

RENO, NEVADA—In October of 1972, Porsche unveiled a unique limited production model at the Paris auto show—the Porsche 911 Carrera RS 2.7. This lightweight model, characterized by a distinctive “ducktail” rear spoiler, was created to satisfy quantity regulations for production-based race cars at that time.

The 911 Carrera RS (RS being the German abbreviation for Rennsport or “racing sport”) featured a stiff racing-type suspension and a spartan interior lacking rear seats and other creature comforts. Easily identifiable by the stylish “Carrera” script on its sides, it was the fastest production car in Germany at the time and received the title of “dream car of the year” from the motoring press.

The 911 Carrera RS would go on to write racing history, beginning with an overall victory in the 1973 24 Hours of Daytona with Hurley Haywood and the late Peter Gregg sharing the driving duties. Other Carrera RS successes included seven victories in the nine-race European GT Cup. In principle, the RS formed the basis for all of Porsche’s future 911-based racing versions such as the RST, the RST Turbo, the 934, and the highly successful 935.

Porsche now commemorates the 20th anniversary of the Porsche 911 RS with the creation of the Porsche 911 RS America. Released in the late spring of 1992 as a 1993 model, the RS America is available only in North America.

The 1993 RS America captures the spirit of the original RS with its emphasis on performance. The new model is lighter than the standard production 1993 Porsche 911 Carrera 2, and features a handling package consisting of stiffer springs and shock absorbers and larger wheels and tires than are standard on the Carrera 2. The RS America is easily distinguishable by its “RS” lettering and large fixed-plane rear spoiler that is unique to the model.

Like the RS, the RS America comes with a no-frills racing-type interior complete with sport seats and flat door panels containing door pull straps. It is powered by the same basic flat-six air-cooled engine found in the RS. Enlarged engine displacement combined with major technological advances have resulted in the RS America being more powerful and faster than its famed predecessor.

Unlike the RS, the RS America actually costs less than its contemporary standard 911. In 1972, the RS was priced higher than the normal 911. Today, with a suggested retail price of $54,800, the RS America actually costs some $10,000 less than the standard 1993 Carrera 2—making it the most affordable new Porsche 911.

Casey Moyer End of 2020 Season Race Report

Article by Chris Moyer
(Diablo PCA Member since 2014)

Editor's Note: Diablo member Chris Moyer's son Casey is an avid Kart Driver (in addition to a PCA Junior). This article is not Porsche-specific, related to or sponsored by PCA National, Diablo PCA or PCA Juniors. Rather, it highlights other automotive-related pursuits of our local Diablo PCA members.

It was a big year for Casey - as in a full-size chassis and an additional 40cc of engine displacement big. Although he could have stayed in his previous class for another two seasons, most of his friends were moving up and Casey has had a descent growth spurt over the last year or so. That coupled with his affinity for physical fitness means he has developed much of the size and strength needed to handle the increased size and weight of the new Kart, as well as the additional traction provided by rear tires that are now about 2 inches wider. Moving up in class a couple seasons early means being the little fish in a big pond, with a majority of the drivers he'll be racing against for the next couple years being older and more experienced. This is somewhat of a double-edged sword. While it was considerably harder to get top podium spots, nearly every race became a valuable learning experience and Casey is getting started on that "next level" development earlier than he would, had he stayed in the Cadet class longer.

Concentrating on Driver development more than chasing any particular series championship provided us some flexibility to pick and choose when and where we wanted to race. We did however focus mostly on the KPX series, run primarily in Northern California, with one race in Reno. A race at Sonoma, a few club races, and a couple of SKUSA (Super Karts USA) California Pro Kart Challenge events in Buttonwillow and Willow Springs filled out the rest of the race calendar and kept our weekends pretty busy.

In spite of our packed race schedule, we were able to work in a trip down to Monterey for Werks Reunion where Casey got to be part of a PCA Juniors car judging event that was sponsored by the good folks at HAGERTY Youth Programs. PCA Juniors is a great program with a lot of potential and Jay Gratton is starting to do some exciting and engaging things with it.

We wrapped the season up at the beginning of December with a trip to the SKUSA Super Nationals XXIV at the Las Vegas Motor Speedway facility. SuperNats is the largest annual Karting event in North America and the biggest race Casey's participated in since his 2019 trip to Italy.

SKUSA Super Nationals XXIV, Las Vegas Motor Speedway - December 2021

Being a little fish in a big pond, locally equates to being a little fish in an ocean at an event like SuperNats and there were sharks in the water to boot. Having done this stuff for half his life however, Casey was hardly intimidated. He managed to qualify 32nd out of 45 and by the end of the heat racing, he'd moved up a little to start the main event from P30.

In the Main, Casey got a descent start grabbing a couple spots when the green flag dropped, then he caught a lucky break when some of the Karts ahead of him got tangled up and he was able to avoid the chaos. He'd moved up to P19 at the midway point before one of the other Drivers used Casey's rear bumper as a brake in one of the turns, spinning our PCA Junior into the barriers and costing him about a dozen positions.

In spite of 2021 being his first year in class and the challenges that came along with that, we're pretty happy with Casey's development – both physically and in terms of his race craft, he remains as determined and committed as ever, he managed to grab a few podiums, including a club race P1, and perhaps most importantly, we're still having fun on this journey . . . wherever it's taking us.

Thanks for reading and here's looking forward to 2022,

Mart shoppers are PCA members who know Porsches, know what they're looking at, and are serious, ready, willing, and able buyers — not tire kickers. Because PCA members take care of their Porsches, vehicle quality in The Mart is better than other websites. And these are not anonymous buyers and sellers, they are registered PCA members.
